Inquiring Minds Department

Jim Lewis is curious:

“I’m sixty years old and I have so many unanswered questions.”

“Who let the dogs out?”

“Where’s the beef?”

“Why do all flavors of Fruit Loops taste exactly the same?”

“Why are eggs packaged in flimsy foam or paper cartons but batteries are secured in plastic that is tough as nails?”

“Why can’t women put on mascara without opening their mouths?”

“Why is ‘abbreviated’ such a long word?”

Why do we drive in a parkway and park in a driveway?”

“Why is lemon juice made with artificial flavor, yet dishwashing liquid is made with real lemons?”

Why do they call them boxing rings, when actually they are square?”

“Why is it no matter what color bubble bath you buy the bubbles are always white?”

Why do you have to ‘put your two cents in’ but it’s only ‘a penny for your thoughts?’

“And just what IS Victoria’s secret?”
